RABBI'S MESSAGE

Rabbi Michael Lerner, the author of the book, Jewish Renewal, interviewed 357 people between the ages of twenty and fifty in England, Canada, and the United States. He asked them what factors turned them off to synagogues and alienated them from organized religion. Many respondents felt that the Jewish world tried to teach them a parochialism of Jewish suffering. Too many Jews acted as though nobody else had ever suffered. The uniqueness of the Holocaust was then used as a way of dismissing the pain of everyone else. Many of my interviewees told me that they were essentially being asked to choose whose suffering was most important. They felt less inclined to be part of a Jewish world that emphasized the primacy of Jewish suffering and maintained that only the wellbeing of Jews mattered.

About one year ago, the Uptown Church, contracted to use our sanctuary, our social hall, and some of our classrooms on Sunday mornings. In addition, other non-Jewish groups have expressed interest in renting and making extensive use of our facilities. I have established important contacts with the Hispanic community. Indeed, our interfaith Thanksgiving service, which took place on November 23rd, along with our stunning interfaith art exhibit for November-December, were major events on our calendar.

Many of us remember that wonderful service that took place commemorating the 75th anniversary of Kristallnacht. We focused on the personal experience of six of our Holocaust survivors who were specifically impacted by Kristallnacht and connected them with teenagers from our Hebrew High. However, if the lessons of Kristallnacht are to be relevant to the next generation of Jews, they must inspire all of us to fulfill the mitzvah of loving the stranger.

In conjunction with working with non-Jews and bolstering our "outside" life, Hebrew Tabernacle must be transformed into a community center. As the only reform congregation in a rich multi-cultural area of Manhattan, we dare not function as a tiny enclave. Rather, we must take our proper place in the greater community. Synagogues which confine themselves to making up minyans and offering a bit of Jewish education often die on the vine. Synagogues must also provide social services which serve the needs of the community as a whole. Hence, given the interest that has been expressed in our building over the past several months, we need to roll up our sleeves and embrace as many organizations as our building can handle. I envisage our building being open seven days a week. On most days, I envisage it being open from early morning until late evening. As the Jewish demographics of Washington Heights and Inwood have become more favorable in recent years, young Jewish families will be attracted to a place which is busy, which stands for social causes, and which does not exist simply for the benefit of Jews.

RABBI'S Message

Just over fifty years ago, a famous musical was born: West Side Story. The setting of the movie was just a few miles south of our congregation. It depicted a bitter conflict between Latino immigrants and the non-latino immigrant community.

In 2015, we can rewrite this musical. We can create our own West Side Story. It can begin at 551 Fort Washington Avenue! We can create a positive model for the rest of Manhattan. If we have the vision, the energy, and the passion, the possibilities are endless.

In the years which follow, may we also look beyond our immediate concerns, go beyond the walls of the synagogue, and serve our fellow human beings wherever they may live. May we continue to see ourselves as major players in Washington Heights and Inwood. May the Hebrew Tabernacle stand, for years to come, as a powerhouse of living Judaism, and a place where the principles of our faith our taught and applied to service of both our Jewish and non-Jewish neighbors. May we ultimately become both a sanctuary of the spirit and a light to our multicultural community in Washington Heights.

DIANA SCHMERTZ

American Conceptual Painter
- Moments of Contact -

Diana Schmertz is interested in the systems people create in order to organize what they perceive in the world. Whether based in science, religion, psychology or philosophy, she believes we always filter through our physical senses. For this reason she uses imagery of the body to depict "moments of contact" between the self and the other.

Ms. Schmertz invites the viewer to engage at a distance as well as at close range, as our inherent struggle to simultaneously understand relationships from both the subjective and the objective, the ordered and the chaotic, echoes within us.

Ms. Schmertz teaches art to high school students in Irvington, NY. She has invited them to design a cooperative piece for this exhibit. Our Gold Wing artist has lived in the neighborhood for the past five years and has exhibited her artwork nationally and internationally.

Artist's Opening Reception, Monday, March 2, 6:30 – 7:30 pm

Many of Ms. Nedelay's pieces are for sale with a portion of the proceeds being donated to the Hebrew Tabernacle. A price list is available.

Family Service for Tu B'Shevat Celebrates the New Year for Trees

By Desma Holcomb

The Family Service on February 6, 2015 celebrated Tu B'Shevat, the New Year for the Trees, in ways that helped us get to know each other better. Upon arrival, both children and adults wrote answers to the question "Why are you thankful for trees?" Later in the service, Hebrew School Principal Shelly Koy read some of their answers: "I am thankful for trees because they are pretty and they help us breathe and give us fruits." "They provide life for animals—birds and bats." "They make the snow look even more beautiful." "For all they give us: a sense of rootedness, respite, renewal—trees make Washington Heights special!"

Earlier in the service, we read a short handout on the Date Palm Tree, explaining how every part of it can be used—the dates, the lulav branches for Sukkot, its fronds and fibers and trunks—and how it bends in the wind without breaking. All of us were asked to find someone we didn't already know with whom to talk about "how our community is like a date palm," and then share our thoughts. Children, parents and other adults gave examples of how each person has something unique to contribute to our Hebrew Tabernacle community. With the strong winds off the Hudson River and the winds of change in our society, it is important that our synagogue can bend with the wind and not break!

As always there was lots of singing, and downstairs we watched the Hebrew School's Gimmel class act out Lech Lecha, when God told Avram to go to a new land. Each student answered this question, and then asked the rest of us, "how would you feel if you were taken to a new land away from your home?" The evening concluded with a delicious dinner, more good conversation with old and new friends, and lots of frolicking by the children.

Everyone is welcome at the upcoming Family Services: a Purim Family Service and Purim Spiel on March 4 at 6:30pm and a Family Service with Dinner on March 13 at 6:30pm.

IN MEMORIAM

In grateful memory of the departed whose names are taken from the records of Hebrew Tabernacle and Beth Am and which appear on a separate weekly Yahrzeit list. It is our minhag to read Yahrzeit names at the Shabbat services following the date. If you would like a name read, please call the office in the preceding week.

Letter from one of the Vice Presidents

WORK STARTS ON CONSERVANCY GRANT

The contractors have removed all the loose brick material and tar on the seams between the lime capstones. They have patched all the locations from which loose brick material was removed and installed all the mounting bars for the Bone White Litsco cladding system. The cladding system has been installed on the north and most of the west parapet walls. Some of the capping covers for the capstone have been installed on the south side and can be seen from the street level. The work has been halted for now due to cold weather and the accumulation of snow and ice on the roof.

HOW TIME FLIES

Yes, it has already been eight years since our congregation celebrated its 100th anniversary with a gala dinner. Those of you who were there will recall what a wonderful event it was. It was also the most successful fundraiser for the Tabernacle in recent history. Well, in just two short years our congregation will be turning 110. Now is the time to start planning our gala event and forming a committee. You do not have to be a board member to be on the committee. If interested, please see me or Joan. Let's make this event more spectacular than our last one.

SAVE YOUR DATE

Just a reminder: 2015 has started off as a busy year for rentals at HT. Don't be left out! If you're planning an event this year, please reserve your space way in advance so you will not be disappointed.

SAFETY IS EVERYONE'S BUSINESS

We would like to create a group to address safety issues in general. If you are interested in joining this group please contact me.

—Mike Klein, Vice President
