Artists' Statement:

Michael Shulman: OUTSIDE: I have worked in the photo business for over 30 years, primarily in sales and editing. Several years ago, I began seriously exploring my own creativity, using my iPhone to take pictures. Because we take care of dogs, I go on several walks in the neighborhood each day. This gives me the perfect opportunity to capture moments of beauty, humor, and melancholy. I prefer to keep most of my images free of people, instead getting inspiration from the inanimate.

*Robin Boomer: INSIDE: I have spent 90% of the past 5 years in my bedroom, due to a combination of health issues and home limitations. Thankfully, I have shared my sickbed with an ever-changing combination of dogs. Every day, I am surrounded by them, and am healed by them - experiencing their love, care, humor, and camaraderie. My photos illustrate these key characteristics of human's best friend.

Michael and Robin recently celebrated 20 years together, and 19 years in Washington Heights. They live with their beloved rescue dog from Puerto Rico, Mabel.
